

Come and “Bee”come a Beekeeper

Would you like to learn the art of Beekeeping?
Do you want to make your own Beehives?
Do you want to learn the process of harvesting your own honey?

We need not only survival skills but revival skills. We need to help the honeybee populations so that they can continue to pollinate our flowers and vegetables and we can reap the benefits from their pollination; larger and more plentiful harvests and most of all . . . honey; that golden sweetener.

This is a hands on interactive series of classes. We will, at times, be working in the bee yard so if you are allergic to bee stings this is not a class for you.

Who Should Attend?

- Anyone who has a heart for honeybees and a sweet tooth for honey.

Dan Harris, owner of Booger Hill Bee Company, has been teaching beekeeping classes for 4 years. He has an undergraduate degree in Horticulture from UGA and has worked for two years at the UGA Honey Bee Lab. Dan took classes at UGA including Entomology 4300, Bee Biology and Management taught by Keith Delaplane. Once bitten (stung?) by the bug he has been captivated by bees ever since. Dan has been a beekeeper for about seven years.

Dan has put together a comprehensive series of classes to guide prospective beekeepers into becoming successful beekeepers.
